CARBONDALE DEFENSE COUNCIL SHAPES PLANS FOR LOCAL DEFENSE

By LORAINE DITZLER

Local civilian defense is taking shape under the direction of John I. Wright, Coordinator for Carbonade. The Carbonade Civilian Defense Council, headed by Mayor Charles Johnston, is divided into eight sub-committees with many volunteer workers. The local Council is under the authority of the State Council for Civilian Defense, which is in turn subordinate to the national organization.

Major Divisions of Defense Work

Defense work falls into three divisions: Emergency protection, emergency medical care, and general warfare. Of these three, the mechanisms for protection have been stressed most up to now. Systems of air raid warnings, auxiliary police, and auxiliary firemen have been set up. First of all the city was divided according to wards, in which a Chief Air Raid Warden has charge. Each ward was split into sections, under direction of the warden. Schools of instruction in tactics are being held for the volunteer wardens.

had firemen, and for the general public will feel a need for training in first aid, fire fighting, and handling of incendiary bombs. Each ward will have a central station headquarters which will be connected by telephone with the central center at the City Hall, with the police and fire stations, and with the emergency hospitalization centers. Probably each sector will have a smaller central station.

"It will be the duty of each warden to know his sector thoroughly. Homes can be examined to find fire hazards in attics or faulty lighting, entrances and exits will be checked.

Emergency Protection To Be Available During Peace Time

The organization of emergency protection measures will be of great value to Carbonade during peacetime when fires occur and tornadoes strike. As yet this area has not been designated as a blackout section by the United States, so lights will not go out due to war conditions, but Mr. Wright said, "It is highly essential to be ready because we are no longer playing at blackouts."

It is imperative that emergency medical care be organized next, for our hospitalization service may be tested handsomely if a tornado should hit this city. Mr. Johnston recently visited Carbonade, or if an accident occurs at the Illinois Ordnance Plant ("ots, stretchers, bandages and other supplies will be stored at the central ward stations and emergency hospitalization units set up. Lines of transportation planned. Crews for first aid, ambulance driving, and road repair will be trained.

Later on activities of value to the general welfare to the citizens of Carbonade will be pushed forward. These include the less dreaded, and perhaps more romantic things such as career service, recreational facilities, food conservation and nutrition and care of refugees. Victory gardens are being started now.

According to Mr. Wright, the Civilian Defense Council has only a good start now and when perfectly set up will be able to take care of any and all emergency activities for the duration.

Leland J. Lingle, Southern track coach, will again attempt to uphold the enviable track path honor that he has maintained while a mentor at Carbonade.

INTRAMURAL BASEBALL LEAGUE SEASON TO BEGIN ON APRIL 13

All Registration to Be Completed By April 9; Teams Signed Up So Far Are Signa Betes, KDAs, Spirits and Inter-Coop

Spring not only turned a college man's fancy to romance, baseball too takes its toll. Every afternoon all over the campus groups of students are practicing for the coming season which gets under way here at Southern on April 13, providing the weather gods give their consent.

Despite the fact that war, certification, and other factors will definitely cause a marked decline in participants, there is no reason to suspect that the campaign will not be a successful one. In past seasons the league has been somewhat crowded so that many enthusiasts did not get a chance at the sport. So from this standpoint the small decline in players will be decidedly advantageous.

There have been rumors to the effect that there will be no Quarter 2 this spring. However, brother 2d has given out with the information that this is definitely a false report. He admits that the loss of Dethpater, Veach, Stuart, and others will be keenly felt. However, he promises to have one of the scrappiest teams in the league. The Aces performed in the past years and enough indication that he is probably right.

At present the only teams signed up are: Signa Beta Mu and Kappa Delta Alpha, both fraternity teams, the Spirits of '76, faculty outfit, and the Inter Co Opa. Of course other teams and individuals will be on the line before the deadline which is April 9. So come on all you fellows and join your friends in America's favorite pastime.

MITCHELL AND PECHININO AMONG SOUTHERN'S ALL TIME RECORD HOLDERS

With the opening of the cipher season just around the corner, a glance at the list of Southern's all-time records, the best performances that have ever been recorded by a Maroon athlete, is not amiss. All of these marks have been established during Coach "Doc" Lingle's tenure here, which was begun sixteen years ago, while two of them have been recorded since 1935, an indication that modern methods have produced an improvement in the track and field department.

These men who are listed as record holders will be remembered by Southern sports fans as outstanding performers of the years past. The list includes such fine athletes as Eugene Peyton, polished sprinter and hurdler, who graduated in the spring of 1935, Charles Struss, quarter miler who broke up his spurs in 1940, and Stella Mitchell, and Louis Pechinino, who are still in school.

The records are:

100 yard dash—time .45—McLaughlin, Wright, Pierce, and Peyton.
220 yard dash—time .21—4—Struss.
440 yard dash—time .49—3—Struss.
880 yard dash—time .2:31—Sutton.
Mile run—time .4:37—Pechinino.
Two mile run—time .10:17—Mitchell.
Shot put—distance—44' 11 1/2"—Bates.
Discus—distance—139' 10"—Bauder.
Javelin—distance—231' 7 1/2"—Brown.
Broad jump—distance .23' 2 1/2"—Hill.
Pole vault—height .12' 5 1/2"—Rains.
Relay—1 mile—time .3:27.5—Parrsons, Sutton, Struss, Morgan.

Southerners Face Strong Track Card

The Maroon track squad, when they begin the season next Saturday against the Leathernecks of Maroon, will be knocking the top off of one of the stiffest schedules a Southern squad has faced in a long time.

The card as it now stands includes three ICC fees, Maroon, Charleston, and State Normal, two meets with the annually strong Cape Girardeau Teachers, and Washington University of St. Louis. The climax of the season will come on the 21 and 22 of May when SNU plays host to all the schools of the ICC for the first time in her history.

The schedule as it now stands is April 11—Western Teachers, Here April 17—Eastern Teachers, Here April 22—Cape Girardeau, There April 28—Cape Girardeau, Here May 6—Washington, There May 14—State Normal, There May 23—Conference Meet, Here.

Women's Tennis Practice Begins

Tennis practice began last Wednesday afternoon under the leadership of Miss Virginia Conger of the Women's P. E. department. Because of the cool weather tennis practice has been postponed for some time.

Any girl who is interested in after school tennis should report every Monday and Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, ready for action.

Don't forget badminton practice every Monday and Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Everybody welcome!

Some forty-five Southern pros are now paying one dollar each month for membership to the Faculty Gift Club, which is sending gifts to their former students, who have donated the khaki or blue for Uncle Sam's fight. The small weekly gifts have been bringing back to the club the sincere thanks of the fellows as well as the vivid remembrances of days here at Southern.

This week the postman brought letters from men in Missouri, Michigan, Texas, Colorado, and California. All of which is good testimonial that our men are seeing the country as well as learning "military" from morning till night.

Ben, Baldwin, Southern grad of '10, who is remembered for his real contributions as a competent journalist as a most outstanding fraternity man and as a keen scholar, tells us that he is now at Fort Logan, Colorado, attending the air corps clerical school.

Quoting Benny, "The accompanying reminder that you are missed" that came with the gift boosted the kid, who again which the army has largely deflated. After being out of and away from Southern for a year and a half, I feel far removed from things "Egyptian." So I feel like less of an outlander than I did before I heard from you.

"Other S.N.U. alumni I've run across in my travels are: Ike Shaeffer at the Scott Field Reception Center; Joe (Pvt.) Glenn J. Goddard, Marlon and William Harrison, Grand Ole Opry. At last report Goddard's and Harrison's address was Barracks 231, 402 School Squadron, Sheppard Field, Texas. Steven Major can be reached at 396 School Squadron, Keesler Field, Miss.

"We're ten miles west of Denver. The camp is surrounded by the Rocky Mountains, and Pike's Peak and Mt. Evans are in view. Stacked up to anything—especially those red Texas panhandle plains—is this beautiful."

—23 Tebbin, Sch. Squadron, Fort Logan, Colorado.

They Morgan, veteran instrumentalist, writes from Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

"Your letter and package were a welcome surprise. A package is always the center of interest in the barracks, and we have a share and share alike system. Food and cigarettes are always desired. Not that we don't get enough to eat, but even soldiers like to eat between meals."

Dan Smith, former Southern plain man, who left last fall for duties with the navy, is now at Henry Ford's trade school.

Says Smith: "I'm learning to be a machinist's mate of all things. I'll be here for two more months and then back to the Great Lakes Training Station for my ship to come in. Just came back from the dental a short time ago. He drilled and drilled. First I would break out in a hot sweat, then the cold chills would

SOUTHERN MEN IN SERVICE

Savanna Ordnance Depot
Proving Grounds, Illinois.

Dear Friends:
Thank you very much for the fine gift you sent me last Monday. I certainly enjoyed the gift and hearing from you. It's good to know that Southern is doing its bit in the lives of those in the service. It's happier than they could be. It would be a great thing to hear from old friends from time to time.

I have been in the Medical Corps here at the Proving Grounds for the last thirteen months. It looks as if I might not be sent out of here at any time now. One of our sergeants left for California last week and will be leaving there soon for no one knows where. We all will not be surprised at anything that happens since we have seen so many come in and out. I have transferred out after a short stay here, it seems that the experienced men will be sent out of the station hospitals and given other sent in to be trained.

It will be a pleasure to hear from you. I will write as often as you can. Thank you again for the fine box you sent. Sincerely yours,

CPL. A. C. HUNTER.

Scott Field, Illinois.

The Faculty Gift Club.

(I can't think of a proper salutation, so I guess I just won't use one.)
The popularity of an army postman is just about as stable as the weather during March. He is liked and disliked according to the amount of mail he delivers. There is no denying his popularity if he has a "good day" and there is no denying the world-wide effect that mail plays in the life of a soldier. If civilians only knew how eagerly each mail call is awaited by the men in the service, I'm sure that Uncle Sam's postage revenue curve would take a decided swing upward. So what?

So when I returned to my barracks from work the other afternoon, and found a letter and a package from the Faculty Gift Club, the postman was a very popular man with me. I do thank you for remembering me and I assure you that the letter and the package were appreciated.

You will note that I'm stationed at Scott Field, but contrary to general opinion, I'm not in the Air Corps. Without divulging any military secrets, I believe that I can explain how I'm assigned. I am what is known as a DEMI, man—detached enlisted men's list—a non-combatant branch of the service composed almost entirely of clerical workers. I am assigned to the Scott Field Reception Center—one of four Reception Centers in the Sixth Corps area.

The function of a Reception Center is to receive men from civilian life (both enlisted and drafted personnel) of the army and, more or less, give them a brief army orientation course. The men are issued army clothing, their records are initiated, they are shot (with serum), and after three or four days they are sent on to a Replacement Training Center.

We have the newest Reception Center in the Sixth Corps Area, with less than two months of actual processing here. Being new, the Scott Field Reception Center isn't nearly as attractive as other R. C.'s and our recreational facilities are limited. Those are circumstances which a little more time will alleviate.

Personally, I did army life not to be bored, but to find out what it is like. Prior to the declaration of war, I did my share of growing—the army has another word for it—but since December 7th I've unit my "griping," and I think you will find very few soldiers violating their discipline during these days.

Thanks again for remembering me and you may be assured that the Faculty Gift Club is doing a worthwhile job—take it from one who knows!

Respectfully yours,

EVT IKE SCHAFER.

P. S.—Several Southern men have been processed here in the last month. Kenneth Whisler went to Fort Sill, Okla.; Alton "Dutch" Woods to Camp Crocker, Mo.; Benny Baldwin and Herdis More to Wright Field, Ohio; and Paul Brown, Mayron Davis, and Arley Ludwig are all in the Reception Center waiting to be assigned. There isn't half as many others that I missed.

JOBS

There's a job opportunity in Washington for college girls that is undervalued—that of housewife. The state of affairs here is better than it may seem. There are nine men for every ten women, a figure authenticated by the Census Bureau. A more heart-warming prospect than the one-to-four ratio sometimes claimed. Most men, figures show, the District of Columbia area has a low marriage rate, but no lower than a number of others, including the states of Delaware, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and California, strangely enough. At any rate, Washington men are fair game. And not rationed—yet.

The president's recent executive order to federal agencies has important implications for college students. Briefly, the purpose is to convert government to war work—and that speedily—by loosening hiring requirements, and by facilitating transfers from agency to agency.

This means greater efforts than ever will be made immediately to put college people into jobs for which they are trained. And if they find their jobs do not suit their talents, the order makes it unnecessary for them to get their superior's permission to transfer to another agency—so long as the agency to which they are going is considered more important to the war effort than the one they are leaving.

Previously an agency could hold an employee who wanted to transfer. Some bureaucrats clung to the prerogative despite the urgency of war work in other agencies.

The order also does away with almost all Civil Service Commission examinations. Hiring will be done on the basis of training and experience.

One thing about the order. In case you are interested in long-term employment, new employees have no assurance their jobs will last once the war is at an end.

WAR

The government is bringing the problem of shortages to the college students' door by way of consumer conferences, cosponsored by colleges and the Office of Price Administration. They are being taught to be "conservers" as well as smart consumers. The Chicago area conference, March 28 through 31, in which 20 colleges participated, is a case in point. Similar sessions are in the planning stage. Specifically those at Western Reserve, Vassar, Goucher, Denison and Central Y.M.C.A. There is a possibility that more area conferences may take place, one on the west coast and one in the mid-west.

Miss Elizabeth Wilson (Florida, '41) and Mrs. Mary Jane Wynd (Florida State College for Women, '37) and their husbands, Dr. Mahler R. Blake, have O.P.A.'s copies of consumer education to the collegiate conference.

A College Park club is the latest wrinkle at Montclair's MYTH university. Members volunteer as "guinea pigs" to be used in experiments the university is conducting on war problems in behalf of the Dominion. Experiments are "humorous and simple," prospective club members are assured.

for his plan. It was the day when he decided to go to research to put the whole situation down on paper.

Disillusion. Research had not a single one of his names. Two weeks later he was running the daily about in an old car on the 4th floor. There is a dusty box was a nearly-bound volume of his many memories.

On the bias... If there are any comforts to be had from war, one of them is the fact that it raises old Ned with his brain and has taken root. New and younger government men have a way of uprooting old habits.

A recent graduate of Ohio State was making up a file to expedite his agency's work. Coming to "Miscellaneous" he discovered he was unable to spell the word. He promptly jumbled that drawer of the file "Things" and went calmly on about his business.

Maybe you've noticed. A Selective Service ruling has it that men deferred since Dec. 8, 1941, cannot be deferred on the basis of dependency unless they "prove" the status was acquired under circumstances beyond the restaurant's control.

"The circumstances escape me," remarked a recently-wed, ex-Marquette student.
